

SEXUAL MIND READER

How To Read Her Facial Features
For Absolute Pleasure

Isabella Stone

Contents

- 1) Introduction: How A Judge From The 1930's Will Forever Change Your Sex Life
- 2) Sexual Trainer Reveals The Science
- 3) How To Know If This Woman Will Spoil You In Bed
- 4) What Her Face Says About Her Sex Drive
- 5) How Can You Tell From A Single Glance That She Will Attack You In Bed?
- 6) How To Know If The Sex Will Last All Night Long
- 7) Will She Like Having Sex Soon, Or Does She Need Time To Warm Up?
- 8) Is She An Adventurous Lover?
- 9) How To Tell If She Likes It Rough
- 10) How To Tell If She Will Take Control In The Bedroom
- 11) How To Tell If She's Sexually Adventurous

Introduction: How A Judge From The 1930's Will Forever Change Your Sex Life

How many times have you met someone and right away got a strong feeling that told you whether or not you liked them?

How many times have you met a guy and known right away whether or not you would be friends? Or perhaps you may have met a girl and there was something about her that you were incredibly attracted to and that you just couldn't put your finger on.

Whether you realize it or not, your subconscious mind keeps a file of every single person you meet and every interaction you have. And when you meet somebody for the first time and already have strong feelings about them (whether good or bad) that is your subconscious mind reminding you of interactions you've had in the past with people who may have similar facial features and body structures.

While we typically refer to this as intuition, it is basically your brain reminding you of previous experiences you've had.

You may have heard the phrase "women's intuition" in the past, and that's because on a biological level, women are designed to have a more acute level of this intuition. This is a natural defense mechanism that women have developed to protect them. Since most women are not as physically strong as men, this instinct helps them to remain safe.

Whether they realize it or not, a lot of women are able to use this level of intuition for the purposes of dating and sex. A lot of times when a woman decides to go home with a guy she just met, her brain is reminding her that she's had good sexual experiences with similar looking men in the past. And thus will most likely have a good time if she goes home with this new guy.

Likewise, she may decide to not sleep with a man right away and instead make him wait because her intuition is telling her that he would make for a good caretaker and long term partner, and she believes having sex so early on may ruin the chance of growing closer to him over the long term.

The purpose of this book is to flip the script, in a way, and let you take your natural instincts and use them to your advantage the same way that women do.

By the time you're done reading this book and putting your new knowledge into action, you will be able to look at a woman and immediately know if sex tonight is a possibility, if she will be wild and adventurous and dirty in bed, if she's the kind of girl who will remain loyal, if she would make a good long-term partner, or any other burning questions you may have about what's going on in her mind.

Before we can dive into the science of being able to read a woman for the purposes of sex, we need to understand a little bit more about how this science came to be and why it is so accurate and effective.

Our subconscious knows how to make observations and decisions about people spontaneously and usually within a fraction of a second of meeting someone for the first time.

Our brain doesn't understand exactly what is happening, but it does know how to associate people with past experiences. By the age of 18, you have already observed countless thousands of people and experienced thousands of different behaviors. It begins at birth and continues throughout the person's lifetime.

In the 1930s, a Los Angeles judge named Edward Jones began to notice a pattern of signals that continually appeared on the faces of the witnesses and defendants who came into his courtroom.

When he retired from the court system, he was very excited to pursue this area of study. And with funding from two different universities in California and Oregon, he was able to take a full-fledged, scientific approach to fully understanding exactly how this worked.

He produced a theory claiming that there are dozens of identifiable signs able to provide specific indicators about the character, behavior and thought processes of each individual.

The tests that he conducted afterward demonstrated a 92% accuracy rate. As a result of his research study, the judge was earned his place as the father of the modern personology system of analysis.

Since the 1930s, Jones's research has continued to be studied even to this day, and is used by men and women in nearly every profession. In fact, more people than you can even begin to realize have been trained in various arts of Jones's research.

Police interrogators, couples counselors, casino dealers, doctors who work at rehab clinics, and even the people who work in human resources departments and usually conduct job interviews have all had extensive training in one form of Jones's research or another.

In fact, today there are numerous researchers who use Jones's science to study different groups of people, including millionaires, top athletes, and pop stars.

For the purpose of this book, the researchers studied men, women, and couples at sexual education research centers, groups of swingers, as well as subscribers from online websites for dating and consensual sex. The experiment provided incontestable conclusions about the personality and sexual preferences of people. Without a doubt, the study proved that there is a statistical correlation between the facial features and behavior of those examined.

From this research, insights can be learned about how to recognize the way a sexual relationship with any partner will progress based on a single stolen glance that lasts only a few seconds. In this book, I will present these insights so that you will be able to identify if your potential partner will be wild and exciting or lay there motionless during sex. You will know who will "take charge" in the bedroom. And you will be able to know all of this from just a look, before a single word has been spoken. In this book, we offer you a lot of power. Therefore, I urge you to use that power responsibly. Use this knowledge with wisdom and care.

Sexual Trainer Reveals The Science

Sexual Mind Reader is headed by world-renowned sexual trainer, Isabella Stone, who recently worked with a sexual research institute located on a major university campus. Together, they have developed the only course of its kind in the world for learning everything you will need to know about your potential partners from just a glance across the room.

As a result of Isabella's collaboration with the sexual institute, you will have access for the very first time ever to science that will tell you everything you will need to know about your potential future sexual partners. This means you will never again have to waste time, energy, or money with women who would only ultimately disappoint you in bed. Instead, you can look at a woman from across a room and know definitively whether or not she's worth your time.

No more frustration or let downs when she either makes you wait too long to get down and dirty, or when the sex leaves you unfulfilled. When you put this information into use, you'll know for sure that you're going to hit a home run every single time.

So now that you're a bit familiar with the theory behind the science you're about to learn, your instructor as well as the researchers who collaborated to bring you this training as well as the results you can expect, we're ready to get started and dive right in.

How To Know If This Woman Will Spoil You In Bed

When it comes to knowing if a woman will go out of her way to pleasure you in bed, there are three main characteristics we must look at above everything else: her lips, her nose, and the width of her face. Knowing exactly what to look for in these three features will tell you everything you need to know about how giving she is as a lover.

Universally, men are usually drawn to women with thick lower lips. Not only do they feel softer and more passionate while kissing, I think any guy out there can tell you it also helps enhance the blowjob significantly. Our research has shown that women with thick lower lips tend to be givers and not just receivers when it comes to sexual pleasure. They're usually very active during sex and are very passionate lovers.

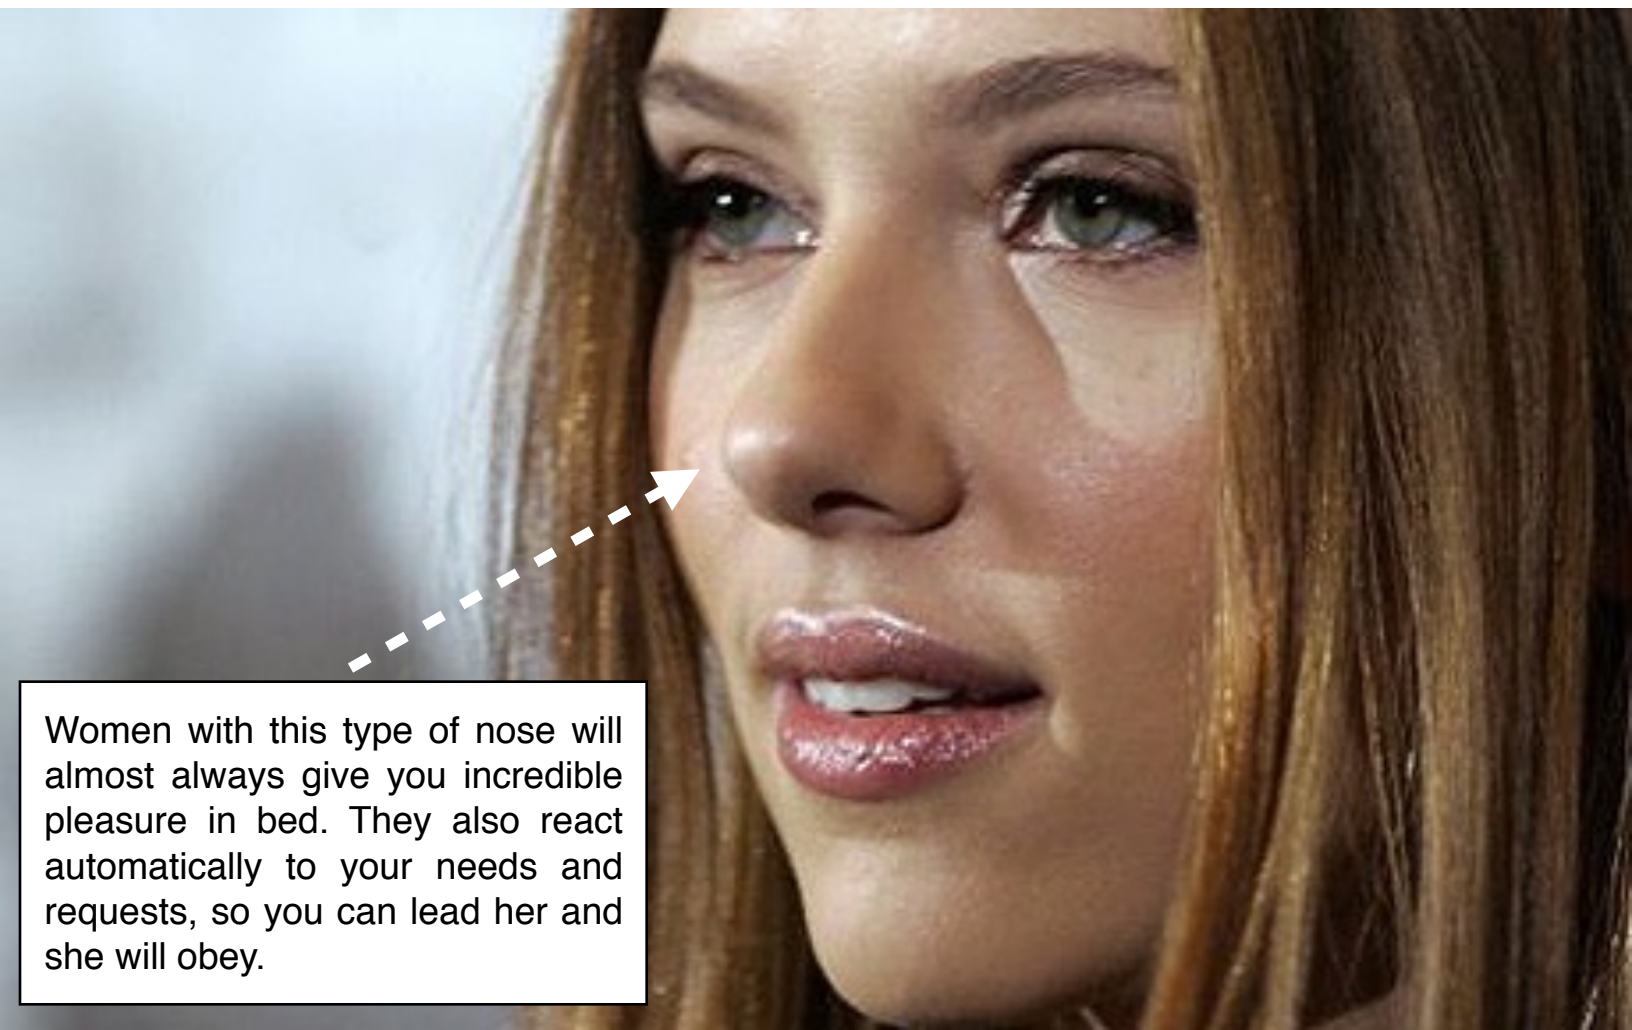

Another facial structure that men are almost universally drawn to is the arched or "pug" nose. Women with this type of nose and thick, full bottom lips, will almost always give you incredible pleasure in bed. Women with both of these features will react automatically to your needs and requests, therefore you can lead her and she will obey. She enjoys helping you and has the instinct of a nurse. The most important thing for her is to know that she helped you experience pleasure and feel good.

When the lower lip is thick in comparison to the rest of the face, this usually means that she is very giving, and chances are she will spoil you in bed.

When the lower lip is thin in comparison to the rest of the face, this means she is not a very giving person, and will probably just lay there while you do all the work.

Women with this type of nose will almost always give you incredible pleasure in bed. They also react automatically to your needs and requests, so you can lead her and she will obey.

Women who have more narrow faces tend to be very submissive and loyal. She will most likely be happy to go along with just about anything you request, and are very adventurous in bed.

What Her Face Says About Her Sex Drive

A woman with a high sex drive means that she'll want more sex, more often. And she will also tend to be very adventurous and open to trying new things. So let's take a look at some of the facial features you should be aware of that will tell you just how high her sex drive is.

Women with high sex drives tend to have a bit more testosterone than other women. This is one of the reasons that they enjoy having sex so often and are almost always very active partners.

It's not uncommon for a woman with a very high sex drive to need sex multiple times a day in order to feel satisfied.

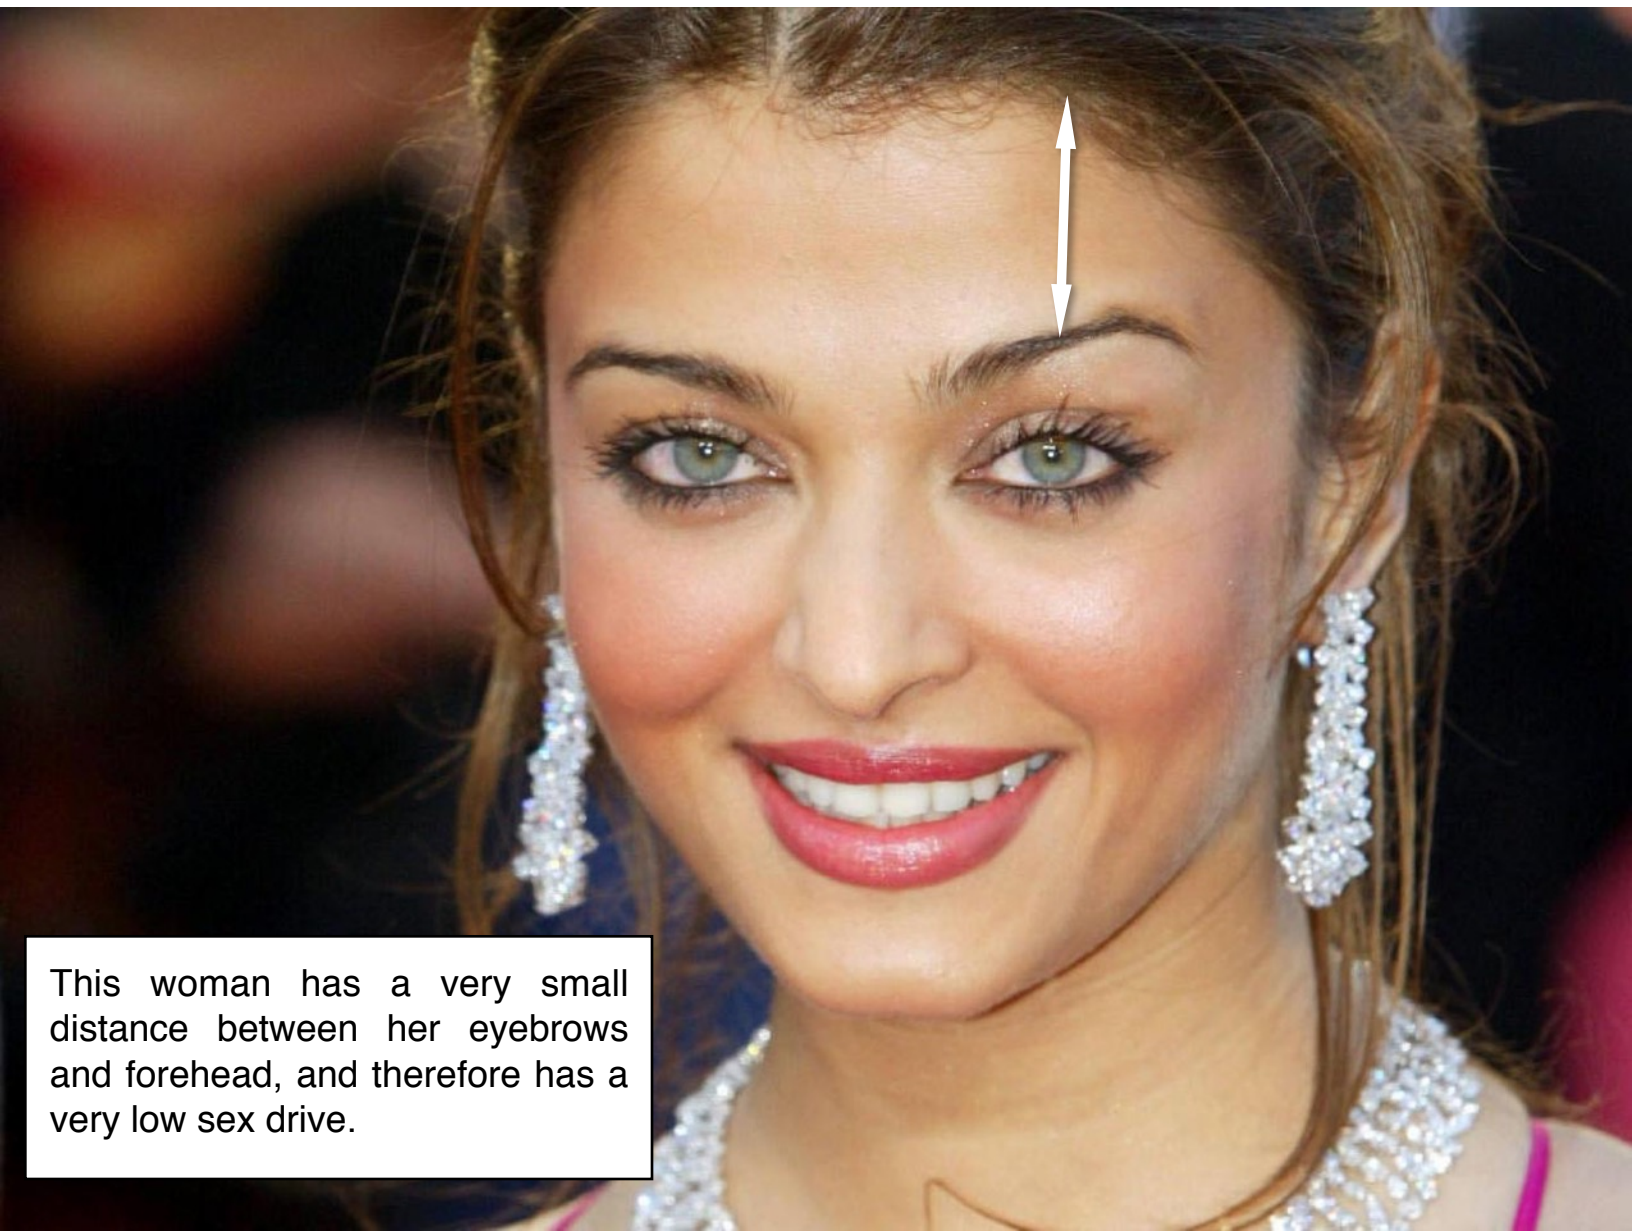

In order to know if she has a high sex drive just from a quick glance, you're going to need to look for the distance from right under the nose down to her chin. The greater the distance, the higher the sex drive. You're also going to compare this to the distance going from her eyebrows to the top of her forehead. Again, the greater the distance, the higher the sex drive.

If the distance from right under the nose until the end of the chin is small - than she has a low sexual drive.

If the distance from right under the nose until the end of the chin is large - than she has a high sexual drive.

This woman has a very small distance between her eyebrows and forehead, and therefore has a very low sex drive.

This woman has a larger distance between her eyebrows and forehead, and therefore has a very high sex drive.

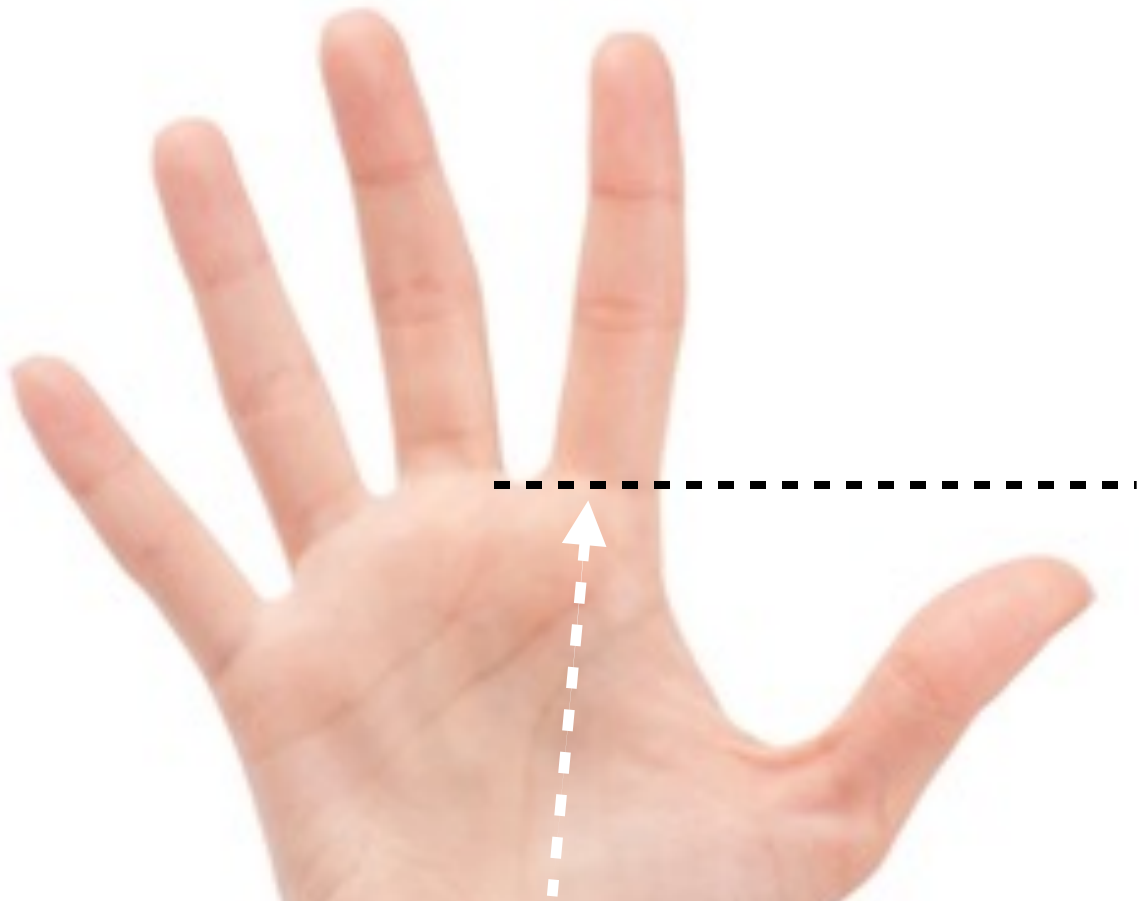

How Can You Tell From A Single Glance That She Will Attack You In Bed?

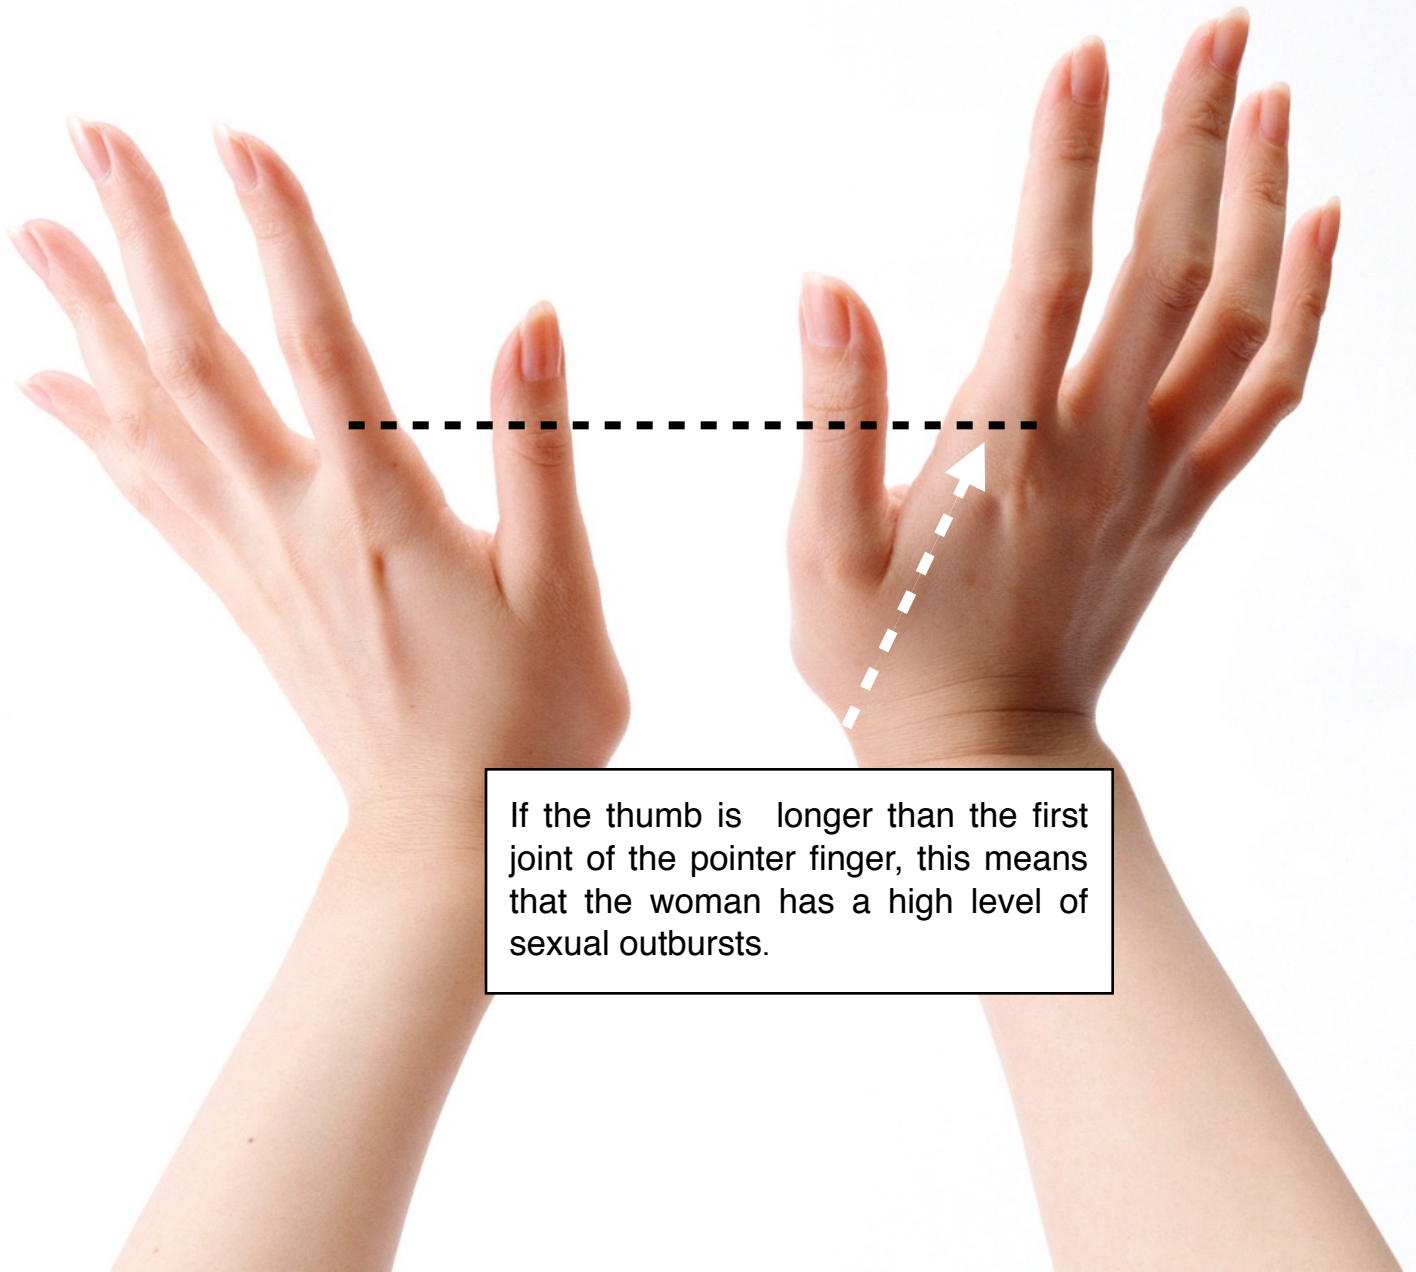

Just because a woman may have a high sex drive doesn't mean that she's going to be the one to initiate. But, if you're looking for a woman who will take control and have her way with you, we're going to have to move away from the face and look at her hands.

We can identify women who will throw themselves at you and take control by looking at the length of the thumb. If the thumb is longer than the first joint of the pointer finger, this means that this woman has a high level of sexual outbursts. If the thumb is shorter than the first joint of the pointer finger, then this woman will be a lot less likely to initiate sex.

While a woman with this characteristic can be a lot of fun in bed, there's a very high likelihood that she's got a very hot temper and will be easy to start a fight with. Although she'll quickly cool down, it's usually best to stay on her good side unless you like very rough, angry sex.

If the thumb is shorter than the first joint of the pointer finger, this means she will probably never initiate sex and that will be your responsibility.

If the thumb is longer than the first joint of the pointer finger, this means that the woman has a high level of sexual outbursts.

How To Know If The Sex Will Last All Night Long

According to a national survey of over 10,000 women, many females say the perfect amount of time to have sex is between 11 and 18 minutes, on average. However, there are some women that simply can not get enough and would prefer to go all night long.

If you find one of these women, you're going to need to be in good athletic shape in order to keep up with them. Because if you can't go all night, they have no problem finding a guy who can.

In order to tell if a woman is going to keep you up all night, we're going to look at the length of her torso as compared to the length of her legs. A woman with very long legs and a smaller upper torso is going to want to keep going all night, usually for hours on end.

Whereas women with a longer torso compared to the length of their legs are going to be much more traditional and prefer sex that lasts between 11 and 18 minutes.

When you combine the three characteristics of a woman with a very high sex drive, who enjoys initiating sex, and wants to go all night long, you now have what's known as a nymphomaniac. This is a woman who simply can not get enough and needs sex all day, every day.

If her bottom part of her legs are short in comparison to her body and she's athletic, sex with her will take hours.

If she has extra long legs compared to her torso, sex with her will last hours.

Will She Like Having Sex Soon, Or Does She Need Time To Warm Up?

What I'm about to share with you right now is probably the single most important tip in this entire book. Because you're going to know at a simple glance from across the room if a girl is happy to go home with you tonight or if she's going to make you wait for sex.

As soon as you understand this one bit of information, you'll know if you're going to need to put in a lot of time and effort in order to get her naked, or if you can kick back, relax, and just enjoy the ride.

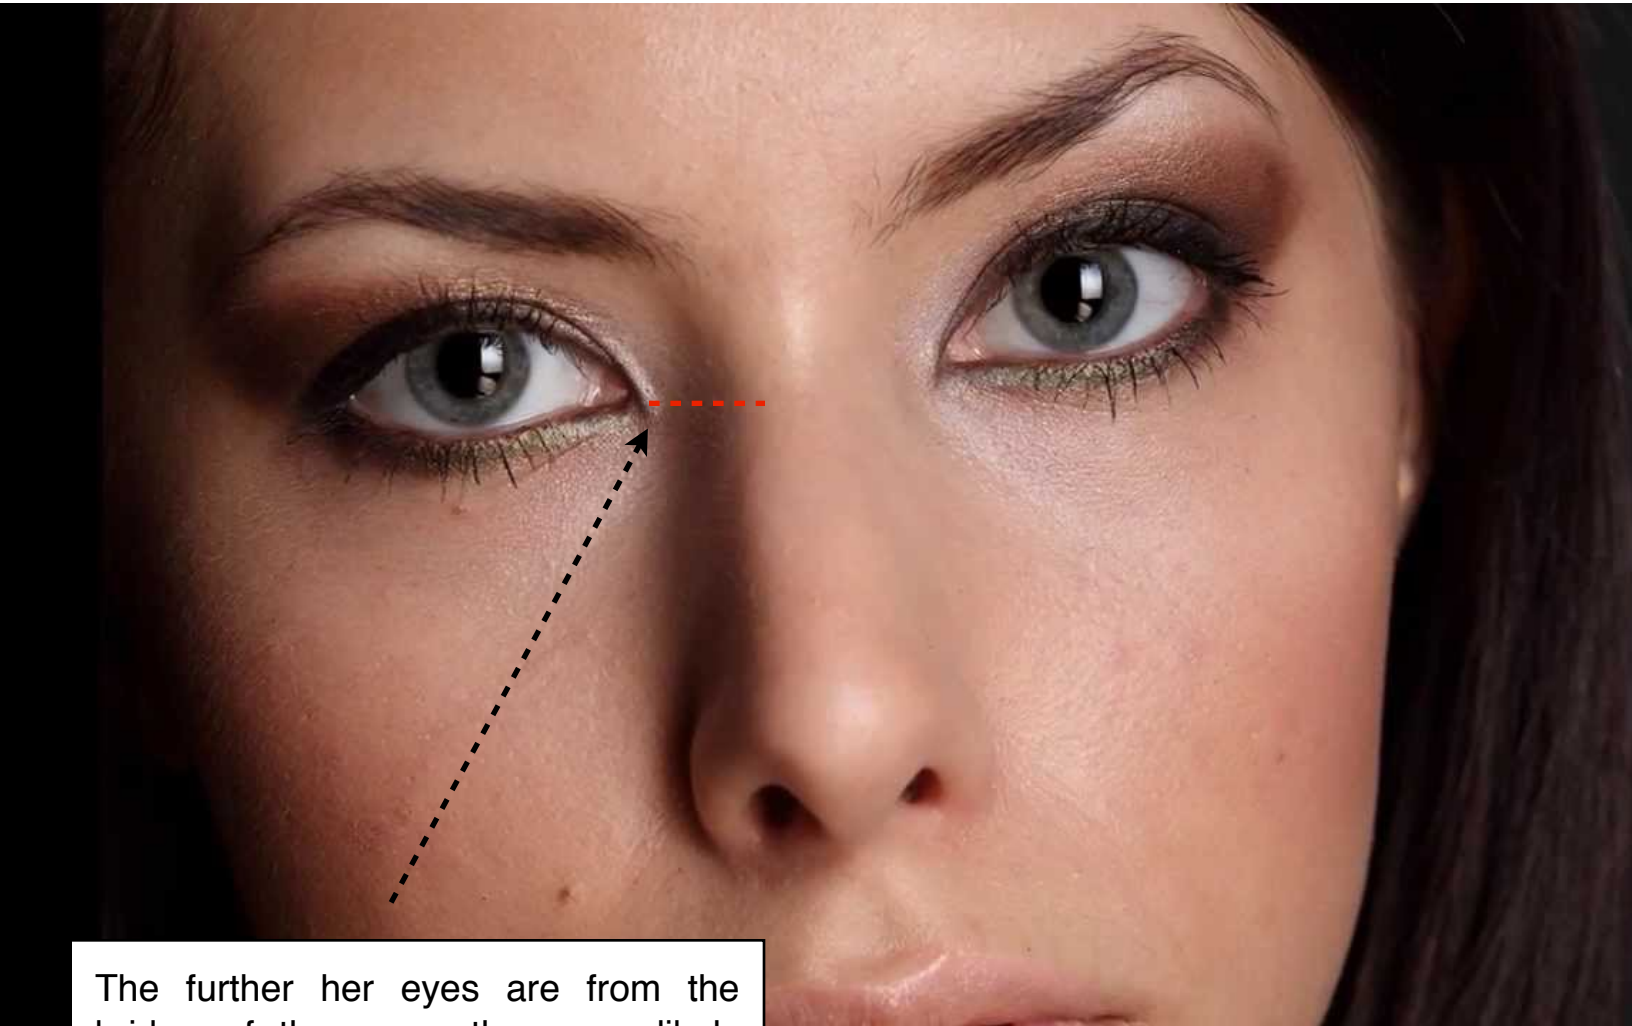

The next time you look at a woman, take a look at her eyes. If they are close to the bridge of her nose, this is a perfect indication that she is easy going and very sexual. A woman with these kinds of eyes are going to be your best bet if you're looking for sex tonight.

On the other hand, women with eyes a bit further away from the nose and sunk in, usually need more of a commitment before they are ready for sex. These types of women are also very loyal and tend to make good long term partners.

So if you're just looking to get laid tonight, you're going to want to approach women who's eyes are bit closer to the bridge of the nose. However, if you want something a bit more substantial and meaningful, women who's eyes are a little further from the nose are your best bet.

The closer the eyes are to the bridge of the nose, the more likely she is to go home with you and have a one night stand.

The further her eyes are from the bridge of the nose, the more likely she's going to make you wait for sex.

Is She An Adventurous Lover?

Most of the time, sex happens in the bedroom. But sometimes, it's a lot of fun to have sex in some unconventional places. Maybe outside on the roof of a building, inside a changing room of a clothing store, maybe in a park when you're out for a hike.

In this section of the book we're going to discuss how you can tell if she's the wild and adventurous type or if she's the kind of woman that believes that sex should remain in the bedroom.

In order to determine if she is down to "get down" outside of the bedroom, you're going to take a look at her cheekbones. If she's got very sharp and defined cheekbones, she'll let you bend her over the hood of your car in the parking garage.

However, if her cheekbones tend to blend in more with her face, she's going to be very conservative and want sex to stay in the bedroom (okay, maybe on the living room couch once in a while).

If the cheek bones are very noticeable, this woman likes to have sex in new places.

If the cheek bones are barely noticeable, this woman will prefer to keep the sex in the bedroom.

How To Tell If She Likes It Rough

Depending on the kind of guy you are, you may be more into rough and wild sex as opposed to soft, gentle, and romantic. So it's always helpful to find a girl who's more sexually compatible with you. In order to determine if she likes it rough or not, we look at her hair.

Girls who have naturally thick hair are usually more sporty and like rougher activities including sex. This is the kind of girl that you'll see spending a lot of time at music festivals and concerts. She may also be the one to get up on top of the bar to start singing and dancing. She tends to be very extroverted and the life of the party.

You may also want to warn the neighbors, because when you bring this kind of girl home, expect her to get pretty loud.

On the other hand, girls who have naturally thinner hair tend to be a little bit more delicate and soft. A little bit of hair pulling and light spanking might be okay, but that's usually about as rough as they like to get.

These girls with thin hair also tend to be a little bit more introverted and are happier going out for a quiet dinner or staying in to watch a movie. These kinds of women also enjoy a lot of foreplay, so if this is more your speed you're going to want to pay close attention to her hair the next time you approach a woman.

Woman with thick hair will usually enjoy the outdoors, loud music, and wild sex.

Woman with thin hair are more gentle, and prefer to be in the quiet comfort of her home, instead of somewhere loud.

How To Tell If She Will Take Control In The Bedroom

As a man, you're expected to take the lead and always be in control. But certain women prefer to let you take control everywhere except the bedroom - that's their domain and they want total control.

In order to tell if she's going to be extra confident in the bedroom and be the leader of the sex session, we need to look at the width of her face.

Women with wider, almost rectangular shaped, faces tend to be incredibly confident and controlling in the bedroom. These kinds of women will usually be the ones to teach you a few new tricks and tell you exactly what they like and how they like it. They don't usually hold anything back, and insist that you always bring your "A" game every time. Additionally, if she has an arched nose, this is a great indicator that she's extra dominant, extra wild, and extra kinky.

Conversely, women with more narrow faces tend to be much more submissive and would prefer that you take the lead. Women with narrow and longer faces, almost oval-shaped, tend to be the least controlling in the bedroom and are often pretty boring. I like to refer to these women as "starfish" because they tend to just lay on their back and not move.

Personally, I've never had a good experience when I've had sex with a "starfish". So unless you're really into inactive women, I would avoid them at all costs.

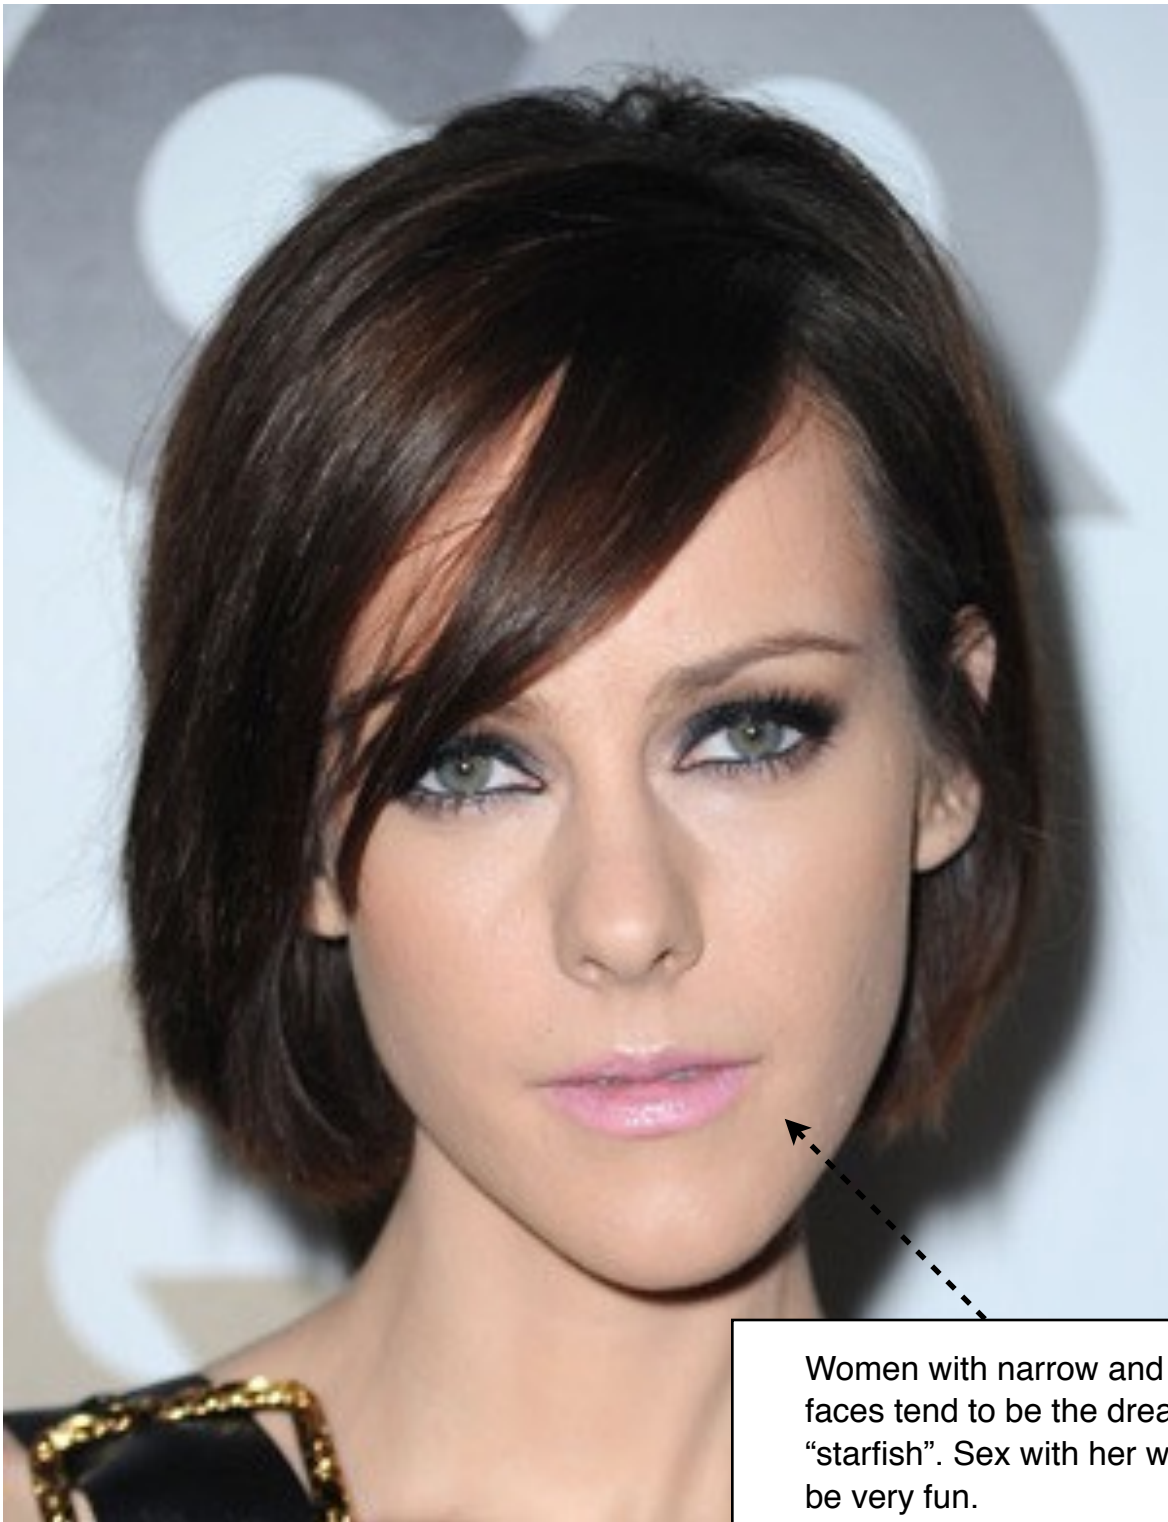

Women with wider faces are more confident, in control, and able to teach you things in bed.

Women with wider faces and arched noses are completely wild and freaky in bed.

Women with narrow faces generally tend to be more conservative in bed.

Women with narrow and long faces tend to be the dreaded “starfish”. Sex with her will not be very fun.

How To Tell If She's Sexually Adventurous

Wouldn't it be great to know right away if the woman you are going to approach is sexually wild and adventurous? The kind of woman that is open for threesomes, will surprise you first thing in the morning by waking you up with a blowjob, or the kind of woman who is excited to bring toys into the bedroom to really spice things up.

Women like this are more common than you may think, and need a man who can keep up with them. If you're not up to trying new things, you're going to want to avoid this woman because she will grow bored very quickly.

However, if you don't want the same old vanilla boring sex every time and instead would prefer to step out of your comfort zone, you're going to need to look toward her hands.

Women who's ring finger is longer than their pointer finger tend to be very sexually adventurous and wild.

Conversely, women who's ring finger is the same length or shorter than their pointer finger are much more traditional in the bedroom.

The difference in finger length is generally very subtle and is not something that you can notice from across the room, so you're going to have to pay very close attention when you're speaking with her.

Women with hands who's ring and index fingers are the same length tend to be more traditional in the bedroom.

Women with hands who's ring finger is longer than her index finger are usually much wilder and more adventurous in bed.

Putting It All Together

We just went over 26 scientifically proven physical traits that will help you identify the kinds of women who you're going to have the most fun with in bed, enjoy the kinds of sex you've always wanted, and even get to experience a few new things you may never have known you would end up enjoying so much.

But there's one crucial factor you need to be aware of:

If You Can't Satisfy Her In Bed, Don't Expect Her To Ever Come Back For More

Women have a lot more sexual options than most men do. If she's attractive and very sexual by nature, you can bet she has tons of guys who would kill to get her in bed.

So why would she ever want to be with a guy who couldn't satisfy her?

If you're looking for her to come over more often, become a regular sex buddy, or even turn this into a potential long-term relationship, you're going to need to know how to take care of every one of her needs in bed.

Otherwise, you can kiss your chances of her coming back goodbye.

In Other Words, You're Going To Need To Give Her The Best Sex Of Her Life

If you enjoyed this book and are ready to transform yourself into the best lover she's ever had, then you're going to want to check out my new program, The Incredible Sex Video Series.

In it, I share countless techniques to give any woman the most powerful, scream-inducing orgasms of her entire life.

I along with three of the top porn stars and sexual educators in the world will rip off our clothes and use each others' bodies to demonstrate absolutely everything you're going to need to know to become one of the greatest givers of female pleasure alive.

This video explains it all:

CLICK HERE TO SEE IT NOW

Trust me. If you haven't seen this revolutionary and eye-opening video, you're not going to want to miss it.

Okay, that's all for today.

Make sure to do yourself and the woman (or women) in your life a serious favor and watch the video.

To your sexual future,

Isabella Stone

P.S. If you want more advanced orgasm-inducing sex techniques,
Just Click Here Now.