

Hello, and welcome to Sexually Charged Dates That Don't Break The Bank.

When you're going out with a girl, especially a new girl, there's very few things more attractive than your ability to take her out for a fun and exciting date that's unlike anything she's ever experienced before.

Showing this kind of thought, care, and initiative is a massive turn on for women, and will always win out over just another typical night of getting dinner and drinks at some boring old restaurant.

However, most guys are concerned that being able to consistently come up with great ideas that were designed to build the sexual tension can be very expensive.

And that's exactly why I've created this bonus eBook for you. In it, you're going to discover a ton of my absolute favorite date ideas that were created to intensify the heat without breaking the bank.

After you've gone through them and taken a girl out on a few of these dates, I would love to hear about your results.

So with that out of the way, let's get started.

Brewery/Winery Tour

What To Expect

Going on a tour of a local (usually family-owned) brewery or winery is a great way to learn more about beer and wine, which will help you both appreciate the samples you'll be tasting. Most of the time, you'll get a tour of the facility, learn about the equipment they use, and at the end get to sample some of their products. Think of it as getting a chance to have a drink as a reward for educating yourself!

Why It'll Turn Her On

How often do you think she consumes either beer or wine? Probably a couple of times a week. And how often do you think she's gotten a chance to learn more about it directly from the people who make it, see their facilities firsthand, and be treated to samples with that level of care and detail to attention? She's probably never gotten to experience this before in her life. You'll be sharing a brand new experience together and getting to enjoy something that she already likes, but on a whole new level. This is the kind of date that will show her that you're different than other guys and will really make you stand out.

Outdoor Photoshoot

What To Expect

If you have a good camera (like a DSLR), break it out, slap on your favorite lens, and take your date around to photograph nature or even really cool architecture. Abandoned buildings and even really dense, wooded areas and everything in between can help you produce gorgeous photos that you'll be able to keep forever.

Why It'll Turn Her On

I don't think that it's any secret that women are incredibly attracted to artists. And this is the perfect date for you to show off your artistic abilities (photographing architecture and nature are some of the easiest subjects to get gorgeous pictures of. You don't need to be any good at photography to get some really nice shots.) In addition to being able to demonstrate your artistic ability, you'll be able to help her bring out her own skills, and she's going to have very fond memories every time she looks at the awesome pictures you helped her to take. It's creative and sweet at the same time, which is a surefire way to her heart and her bed.

Prop Photoshoot

What To Expect

Take your date to a thrift shop and search for really ugly and silly props that you would normally never buy. Hideous lamps, ugly oil paintings, broken accordions, etc. The dumber and more kitschier, the better. Next, you're going to take your new props home and use them to photograph one another trying to act very serious, as if this was a real photoshoot.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Just like in the last date idea, you're getting to express your artistic ability and help her express hers. But in this situation, you're adding the element of silliness and your sense of humor. It's going to be nearly impossible not to break out in laughter throughout the entire date. And how can a girl claim she isn't attracted to a guy who she spent the most fun afternoon ever with?

Go To A “Barcade”

What To Expect

Take your date to a bar that has numerous games. Billiards, darts, skee ball, pinball, and even retro arcade games are all perfect. It won't cost you much, and you'll get to spend the night having drinks and playing games like children.

Why It'll Turn Her On

You're going to get to bring out your competitive side when you play against one another, which is always a huge turn on for women. Feel free to make small wagers such as "if I win, you've gotta give me a kiss". That will easily turn up the sexual tension and of course the cheap drinks won't hurt to get things going either.

Weeknight At The Museum

What To Expect

Most museums, art galleries, aquariums, and zoos tend to have one night a week where admission is either greatly marked down in price or free. This is the perfect time to take your date out for an evening of culture and learning.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Women go nuts for intelligence, plain and simple. This is a perfect opportunity for you to demonstrate a little class, sophistication, and worldliness. Even if you're not familiar with anything you guys are going to be seeing together, it still shows her a desire to want to learn and grow. And she gets to look at you in a whole new way, and there's not many things out there more attractive to a woman than getting the opportunity to see something brand new and exciting in their man.

Pub Trivia

What To Expect

The two of you will be playing on a team together at a local bar, answering trivia questions and trying to win free drinks and prizes.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Pub trivia is designed to be silly. Sure, the questions may be difficult, but the hosts usually try to keep a light and goofy atmosphere. Give yourselves a really cheesy team name and have a few rounds all in the name of having a great time. This is especially good for first dates, as it lets you avoid those boring job interview style questions (where are you from, what do you do for work, etc. etc.).

Room Escape Adventure

What To Expect

You and your date, and most likely a few others, will be locked in a room and need to look for clues and figure out puzzles in order to escape. These kinds of activities are fairly new, but becoming immensely popular.

Why It'll Turn Her On

When you are locked in these “puzzle rooms”, your adrenaline starts pumping, and you need to rely on each other as a team in order to escape before the timer goes off. Sexual desire has been directly linked to increases in adrenaline, so right away without having to do any work you're already beginning to turn her on. Additionally, the fact that you have to work as a team will naturally bond you closer together. And whether you succeed in escaping or the timer goes off before you can figure out those final puzzles, you're getting to bring her on an experience that is probably unlike any date she has gone on before. Additionally, when she sees how jealous her friends are at this date idea, she's going to naturally feel even more attracted to you.

Brewery/Winery Tour

What To Expect

Going on a tour of a local (usually family-owned) brewery or winery is a great way to learn more about beer and wine, which will help you both appreciate the samples you'll be tasting. Most of the time, you'll get a tour of the facility, learn about the equipment they use, and at the end get to sample some of their products. Think of it as getting a chance to have a drink as a reward for educating yourself!

Why It'll Turn Her On

How often do you think she consumes either beer or wine? Probably a couple of times a week. And how often do you think she's gotten a chance to learn more about it directly from the people who make it, see their facilities firsthand, and be treated to samples with that level of care and detail to attention? She's probably never gotten to experience this before in her life. You'll be sharing a brand new experience together and getting to enjoy something that she already likes, but on a whole new level. This is the kind of date that will show her that you're different than other guys and will really make you stand out.

Cheesy Movie Night

What To Expect

I'm sure you're aware that a movie night can be a fun date, that's no secret. But to make it even more special, you should try and make it a really cheesy, bad movie night.

Why It'll Turn Her On

There's nothing fancy or formal about this date. Put on your comfiest PJ's, grab a few snacks, and snuggle up on the couch for some bad entertainment (think 1980's teen comedies). She's not going to be able to help feeling even more attracted to you as the both of you get to laugh at the awful hairstyles and fashion choices people used to think were cool. The music montages, terrible writing, and getting to see your favorite actors much, much younger will be a fun experience for you both that will help her feel a closer connection with you.

See A Local (Cover) Band

What To Expect

You're going to be out at a music venue getting to see a cool, local band rocking out on stage. Bonus points if you can find a really good cover band, as this will allow you and your date to sing along.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Girls absolutely love dancing, but not everyone wants to go out to a nightclub all the time. So going to see a local band or good cover band is a much more casual and relaxed atmosphere where you can see her on the dance floor shaking her ass. And when you join her to sing and dance and have a great time, she's not going to be able to help feeling more drawn to you. There's very few things girls love more than singing and dancing and getting to let their hair down a little. So when you get to share this opportunity with her, she's not going to be able to say no to you.

Comedy Club

What To Expect

If you're able to go to a GOOD comedy club, you can expect to have some world class comedians entertaining you and your lady and making you both laugh hysterically. You'll sip on a few drinks and get to enjoy a form of entertainment that everybody loves.

Why It'll Turn Her On

What's not to enjoy about spending the night laughing your head off? Not only will you have something fun to talk about the rest of the night, the fact that this was a shared experience in an intimate setting will naturally bring you both closer together. You didn't have to do any of the work, and she had a great time and was thoroughly entertained. What could be better than that?

Beach Trip

What To Expect

You get to see your date nearly naked and dripping wet when she runs into the ocean. A lot of beaches also offer surfing lessons which can be a ton of fun for both of you.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Even though her bikini covers the same amount of her skin as her underwear, she's going to immediately start to become more comfortable around you while undressed. Playing together in the water or on the sand is going to force a lot more physical contact, and this in turn is going to make her brain believe that sex is eminent. Once she's comfortable around you while unclothed and enjoys getting to touch you, she's not going to want to say no.

Cook Dinner Together

What To Expect

You and your date will go to the supermarket together to pick out all of your favorite ingredients, then stand side by side in the kitchen while you make a delicious dinner that you'll be enjoying together.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Women love a man that knows his way around the kitchen. Almost as much as they love getting to share experiences that force you to work as a team. So getting to make a nice, romantic dinner complete with a bottle of red wine and delicious dessert is the absolute perfect recipe to move from the dinner table to the bedroom very quickly.

Manicures And Pedicures

What To Expect

When you walk into the salon, prepare to be greeted by women who understand you may feel a little out of place and want to make you more comfortable. You'll get to sit down in cushy chairs while you get your hands and feet pampered. Most salons also offer neck and shoulder massages while you're getting your nails worked on. All in all, it's a very pleasant experience, and you come out of it feeling like a million bucks.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Over the last few years, it's become more and more socially acceptable for guys to get their feet and hands taken care of by a professional. One of the main reasons that women encourage guys to do this is that whether you realize it or not, women really care about a man's fingernails. If they're dirty, cracked, and generally poorly taken care of, do you think she's going to want your hands between your legs? However, when she sees how comfortable you are in that setting and knows that you are well groomed, it's going to immediately send tingles to her panties.

Froyo And A Movie

What To Expect

Do it yourself frozen yogurt places have been popping up everywhere over the past few years. If you've never been to one of them before, you're missing out. Basically, you pick which flavor of ice cream or frozen yogurt you want, and then add all of the toppings that look good to you. Most places have at least a dozen different kinds of toppings, so it's easy to go nuts. After you've finished your dessert masterpiece, you and your date will bring them home and enjoy them while watching a movie.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Similar to a lot of our dates, you get to operate as a team, and when you add a yummy dessert and getting to snuggle up on the couch for a movie, what girl could resist?

Laser Tag/Paintball

What To Expect

Most people have gotten to play laser tag as a child and probably paintball when they get a bit older. It's a ton of fun and a total adrenaline rush. So long as you make sure to take care of your date so she doesn't get hurt, you're going to get to enjoy competing against each other while you both get nice and sweaty.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Most women go crazy for surges of adrenaline and competition. Adding into the mix her getting to see you doing something very masculine and the thrill that comes from getting to hunt one another down, is going to send her hormones into overdrive. Additionally, since you'll both probably build up quite the sweat there's nothing better than going home and taking a shower together to celebrate.

Boats And Booze

What To Expect

A lot of areas around the country that are near major bodies of water will offer short (1.5-3 hour) mini cruises. The boat will take off from the dock and usually just go in a giant loop while the crew provides you with food and drinks. Champagne, wine, craft spirits, fancy cheese and cured meat plates are all very common.

Why It'll Turn Her On

How could a woman possibly resist you taking her out on a cruise to watch a beautiful sunset on the water while enjoying a few glasses of wine and delicious appetizers? It's an incredibly romantic setting that's usually far less expensive than you would think. For less than the cost of dinner at a restaurant, you can bring her on a romantic adventure that she won't soon forget. Depending on the time of year, you can expect the air to get a little chilly after the sun sets. This is the perfect opportunity for you to wrap your arms around her to keep her warm.

Take A Class Together

What To Expect

You and your date can sign up for a one day class to learn just about anything you can imagine. Pottery, glassblowing, sushi making, painting, photography, dancing, etc. You'll get to enjoy learning something brand new together and have a lot of fun in the process.

Why It'll Turn Her On

You're taking the initiative to sign you both up to learn something brand new and exciting as a team. (have you noticed the pattern of teamwork being a huge turn on in a lot of these dates?) How many other guys do you think have ever taken her out to learn how to make flatbread pizzas? Or gain some knowledge into wine and food pairings? These are the kinds of date activities that women brag to their friends about because they stand out as creative, original, thoughtful, sweet, and romantic.

Food/Pub Crawl

What To Expect

If you do a quick Google search in your area, you can usually find pre-organized food/pub crawls. Essentially, you'll start at one designated location to have a small bite to eat or sample a cocktail before moving on to the next. And you keep doing this for the duration of the crawl which is usually at least a couple of hours.

Why It'll Turn Her On

Most women love getting to try out new places and new things when they have their man leading the way. These kinds of crawls allow you to bring your date to a ton of brand new places neither of you may have ever tried before. And when you find somewhere you both really like, you can simply suggest going back there in a few days. Thus guaranteeing another date. She'll be very impressed with your thoughtfulness and having taken the initiative to set all of this up.

You've just gone through my list of personal favorite date ideas that are massive turn-ons and affordable to guys with just about any budget.

As you saw, a number of these dates are either free or damn close to it. All of them were designed to get her to want to come home and get in bed with you.

I hope you enjoyed reading this, and I can't wait to hear your results.

To your sexual future,

Isabella Stone